"Dmitry Georgievich Mindiashvili has lent me unflagging support, giving every kind of advise. I have spoken many times of the role he has played in my wrestling carrier. He is not only the teacher of wrestling, but the teacher of life."
Ivan Yarygin

D.MINDIASHVILI,

honorable coach of Russia, director of the highersports school

Our school was officially inaugurated in 1973. Prior to it, however, the school, already in existence, produced outstanding wrestlers, among them Ivan Yarygin, the first Krasnoyarsk Olympic champion. The idea to set up such a school has been hatched since 1958, when I became the first-in-Siberia master of sports in freestyle wrestling. It was just a dream then, for the sake of which we worked so persistently and so selflessly. Now our school is known all over the world. It is the center to train the international class sportsmen. We have set up similar schools in the region's districts and cities and find new talents among youth, whom these schools attract.

There functions a training center in the school to train coaches - specialists of the highest rank. In this undertaking, we closely cooperate with the Pedagogical Academy.

One more thing. There is a scientific laboratory in the school, which devises up-to-date methods of wrestling. Sometimes, the school is called school of Mindiashvili, for short. This fact rather reflects the recognition of its services, than a certain facility of sports science and sports education. My dream is to turn the school, by the year 1998, its 25th anniversary, into a scientific-educational facility - the Krasnoyarsk International Wrestling Institute.

Though some efforts have been made in this direction, much is yet to be done. Our undertaking is supported by the regional administration and the public, that's why we are sure that it is doomed to success.

International Freestyle Wrestling Tournament

Since 1990 Krasnoyarsk has annually staged freestyle wrestling competitions within the framework of International tournament for the prizes of twice Olympic champion, president of the Russian Wrestling Federation, Ivan Sergeevich Yarygin. This sport event attracts the attention of many outstanding sportsmen of the world, who consider it an honor to take part in such prestigious competitions. The wrestlers from all parts of the globe come to the tournament, demonstrating their skills, boldness and strength on the rugs of our splendid palace of sports, Yenisei. Some 200 sportsmen of all weight categories compete for the first place; now we expect over 200 wrestlers from different countries to participate. By December 10, 23 teams from the U.S.A., Germany, China, Japan, Turkey, Iran, Macedonia, Poland, Estonia, Korea, Belarus and Kazakhstan declared their intention to participate. The Krasnoyarsk fans are looking forward to this event, slated for January 26.

VLADIMIR CHERNYKH,
chairman of the regional
sports committee

The residents of Krasnoyarsk have everything necessary for physical training, as well as for going in for sports. Under the current pressures the country is living through now, we have managed to preserve the personnel, the system of management and coordination of one of the most important area of people's life. Sports and the physical training are an integral part of our life; they have become a necessity.

I'd like to stress that the leaders of the region and the city, local administrations and many enterprises and organizations realize the importance of physical training, actively support it and render all kind of assistance. Late in January, we shall be staging the VII international freestyle wrestling tournament for the Ivan Yarygin prizes. We prepare this sports holiday jointly with all the Krasnoyarsk residents, who want it to be bright and memorable.

The tournament is, in essence, a training session, conducted in the run up to the European championships, Olympic games and, most important - the World championships, slated to be held here, in Krasnoyarsk, in 1997. That why the strongest teams intend to participate - almost all 1995 world champions. So, the competitions in the "Yenisei" Palace of Sports will be rather tough and spectacular. I am sure the fans will enjoy them greatly. Everybody is interested in providing a high level of the tournament - the organizing committee, sports federations, Krasnoyarsk agencies, departments and our sponsors.

Yarygin, born in a small village at the foothills of Sayan Mountains, was "found" by V.I.Charkov, now an honorable coach of the USSR and the Russian Federation, in 1966 in Abakan, where the boy learned driving. Soon Charkov sent him to Krasnoyarsk, where Ivan Yarygin met Dmitry Georgievich Mindiashvili. The latter trained Yarygin from 1968 to 1980.

I.Yarygin has become twice Olympic champion, the world champion, the four-time European champion and the five-time holder of the world's cup. Ivan Yarygin first won the title of Olympic champion in 1972 in Munich. After the victory he would say: "Yes, I have won quite easily, though these quick attacks absorbed everything - pain, sweat and long years of training. I've set up an unofficial record in wrestling: seven close engagements took 12 minutes out of 63 allotted." It's not easy to climb to the Olympic height, but it's still more difficult to confirm the title of the Olympic champion.

To participate in the XXI Olympic games, held in Montreal, the athlete from Krasnoyarsk had to prove to the coaches of the combined team that, despite his shattered prestige, he will not let them down at the decisive moment.

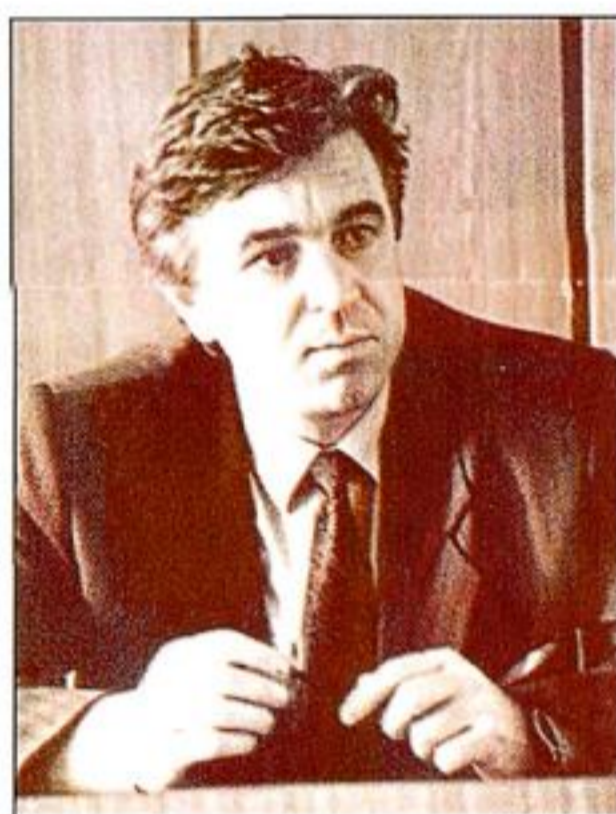

And again our fellow-countryman - the Olympic champion! "I was engaged in combat and saw myself as if in a mirror. My opponent did not give in, he also attacked, putting on my favorite spurts. The score is 9:13."

In 1980, Ivan Sergeevich was appointed chief coach of the USSR combined freestyle wrestling team. He is an honorable coach of the USSR.

Despite the fact that Ivan Sergeevich has been living and working in Moscow for many years, this tournament is held on the banks of Yenisei, as it was here that he had become a distinguished sportsman and won the title of an honorary citizen of Krasnoyarsk.

In 1992, Ivan Sergeevich was elected president of the Russian Wrestling Federation. He devotes much time and effort to promoting this kind of sport in our difficult time.

The successes, scored by the Russian wrestlers in the international competitions of late, inspire hope that the glorious traditions of freestyle wrestlers will not die.

VALERY ZUBOV,
head of the Krasnoyarsk
regional administration, chairman of the organizing committee of the international tournament for the
I.Yarygin prizes

I always feel glad when our region stages events, related to culture, science and sports. And it's very gratifying that the level of these events is growing from one year to the next. Krasnoyarsk is becoming an international sports center in Siberia. Quite recently we housed the competition between the strongest draught-players of the world - A.Chizhov and A.Balyakin, who competed for the world champion title. And now a new world tournament, the pre-Olympic tournament of the strongest wrestlers of the world.

The sport of the highest achievements, like culture, has a host of peculiarities. Culture and sports do not exist by themselves, but are accompanied by a number of concomitants. For example, the Krasnoyarsk teams and sportsmen, achieving the highest results in prestigious international competitions, not only bring glory and popularity to the Krasnoyarsk region. Foreign firms also display keen interest in the region, making a lot of lucrative proposals. Our prestige, as a business partner, is growing. It is largely due to sports that a breakthrough to the world market has been made. Businessmen, tourists, stars of sports and culture are coming to us. Sports committees and federations more often suggest to hold large competitions. And this, certainly, adds to the region's prestige. It will not be an exaggeration to say that the international freestyle wrestling tournament for the prizes of the twice Olympic champion I.S.Yarygin is the most popular and prestigious sports competition. All the world follows it closely. Now, on the threshold of the Olympic games, marking their centenary, the tournament and the European freestyle wrestling championship are major knock-out competitions. That's why nearly all the strongest wrestlers of the world stated their readiness to participate. These tournaments always capture the attention of the world public. They have a propagandist effect: following these competitions, young people begin to attend sports clubs and hundredth of people think in earnest of healthy mode of life.

Ivan Yarygin has made an outstanding contribution to the development of sports. His name is known in all continents and we are proud that he is our fellow-countryman. I'd like to point out one detail. More often than not famous sportsmen, upon completing their sports career, simply vanished out of sight. They can hardly find their road outside sport. Now the situation has changed. The chances of these people has largely increased. Ivan Yarygin is a good example of that. He is the president of the Russian Federation of freestyle wrestling, sports organizer of international class. And this is how it should be. Or take, for example, the problems of the region's sports schools. We've managed to preserve most of these schools, but not all of them can successfully tackle their problems. The school of Dmitry Georgievich Mindiashvili, enjoying no particular privilege, stands firmly on its feet and is a true forge of champions in wrestling. Mindiashvili, a former sportsman, found himself as a trainer and organizer and rallied round himself a hard-working collective of like-minded persons. This is a true sports character and that's why Ivan Yarygin remembers him as the best coach and instructor.

We, in Krasnoyarsk, are exponents of the new concept of sports development. Sports propagates a healthy way of life, making use of show-business elements. We are still to learn to organically combine them. One can, of course, train the body in the basement, made into sports clubs in rough-and-ready fashion. However, the spiritual development can't proceed in the basement. We must turn sports clubs into Palaces of culture and stadiums. And this is how it will be. The artificial ice which our Swedish colleagues help us develop in Krasnoyarsk, will be free for our children and teenagers. Please, come, train and rest. However, we are against compulsory mass sports. The practice of many years has shown that it does not produce the desired results. And the only result we expect is the following - each of us should grasp the importance of strong health and take care of it independently.

I wish the residents of Krasnoyarsk and the guests of our city to enjoy the tournament for the Ivan Yarygin prize and think of a healthy way of life.

Siberian Rug

for the Prizes of Ivan Yarygin in Krasnoyarsk

"I keep recalling the recent cup tournament, those hundreds and thousands of Krasnoyarsk city dwellers who turned then into spectators or even fans. They kept the tournament going by the very fact of their presence. This is very much like in the theater: no performance is possible if there are no viewers. This is equally true for the sports performance. Krasnoyarsk city dwellers are fantastic fans, they manage somehow to be ardent and impartial at the same time. No serious successes in sports can be achieved without such fans. It is my deep conviction that sport as such would be impossible without them. I know it from my own experience. I would hardly have scored any victories were it not for the Krasnoyarsk people whom I value so much. I have always had a feeling that I should be worthy of my great region."

VALERY SERGIENKO,
President of the Union of Goods Producers and Entrepreneurs of the Krasnoyarsk region, State Duma deputy

The tournament was conceived as the one, linked with the name of Ivan Yarygin - a legendary man in life and sports. He is not only an outstanding sportsman, but a man who, in the difficult years of nascent market relations, proved to be an able sports organizer. When he became president of the Russian Wrestling Federation, the latter's prestige had noticeably increased. I.Yarygin has many worthy qualities. One of them is the talent to teach young sportsmen, coaches and organizers of sporting events. He is also extremely sociable and finds common language with authorities and leaders of foreign sports organizations.

I.Yarygin is immensely popular in the world. When I was in America, Italy and other countries, I saw people recognizing him in the street, approaching him, thanking for sports achievements and the influence he exerts on the youth.

Thanks to the efforts of organizers, sportsmen and coaches, the freestyle wrestling tournament for the prizes of I.Yarygin has turned into a sports holiday, a major stage in the world championships.

The first tournament, involving wrestlers from 12 countries, took place in July 1990 in Abakan, in the open sky. Vitaly Smirnov, President of the national Olympic committee of Russia, approved the idea of its holding. Three years have hardly passed and the Yarygin tournament captured the whole world.

Many labor collectives, commercial and trading organizations of Krasnoyarsk displayed great interest in the international tournament and sponsored this major sporting event.

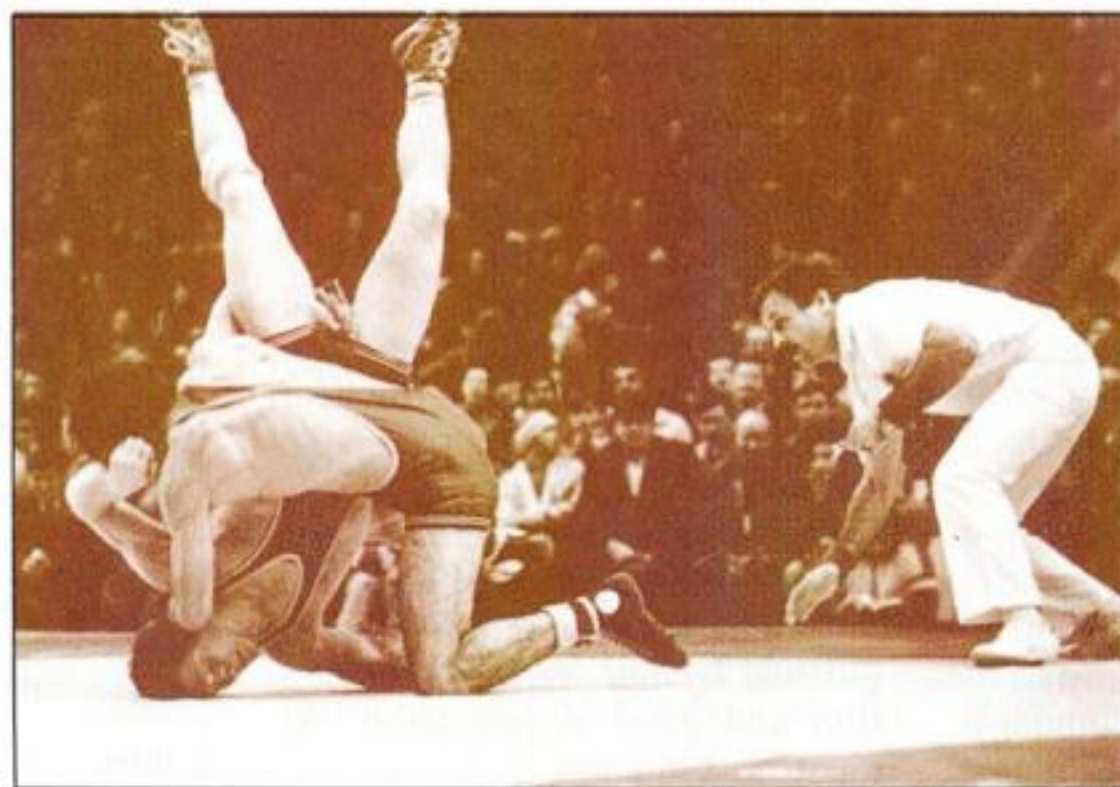

Among them are "Krasolympic"; non-ferrous metals plant; the Krasnoyarsk branch of the commercial firms association, LLD; Krasnoyarsk-based regional foreign trade firm; Krasnoyarsk city council of people's deputies; Krasnoyarskugol concern; Sibtyazhmash plant; industrial amalgamation, producing combine harvesters; Krasnash industrial amalgamation; Vo-zrozhdneniye joint-stock insurance company; the information TV program

IKS; the commercial center of the Telegid studio.

The prizes were sponsored by the commercial center RosSPORTprom; SBEKS trading house; ore mining and chemical enterprise; trade and industrial company L.TEKS Ltd; ship-building plant; industrial amalgamation "Siberian toy"; Abakan-based meat-processing plant; Krasnoyarsk tele- and radio broadcasting company.

"Yakut diamond" - this is how the prize of the Sakha (Yakutia) republic is called. It was manufactured on the eve of the previous, VI tournament for the Ivan Yarygin prizes. The first holders of this prize were twice

Olympic champions I.Yarygin and A.Fadzaev, from Russia, as well as Olympic champion from Yugoslavia, B.Simich.

The list of the best wrestlers of the previous tournament includes many names, both well-known and unfamiliar.

The prizes were conferred on: B.Bogiya, Moscow, for the best technique; B.Saitiyev, Krasnoyarsk, for the will to succeed; V.Tokashira, Japan, for the most beautiful fighting; V.Orudzhiyev, Vladikavkaz, for the greatest number of pure victories; D.Musulbes, Vladikavkaz, the youngest winner; I.Fatiyev, the youngest sportsman in the Krasnoyarsk region; A.Lykov, the best fighter in Krasnoyarsk; V.Temnykh, the best referee of the Krasnoyarsk region.

The best coaches of the Krasnoyarsk region also won prizes. The names of the prize-winners have been entered in the annals of the tournaments, serving as an example for those, who dream of scoring high sports achievements.

The best wrestlers-winners of the VI international freestyle wrestling tournament were awarded, to the applause of the spectators, super prizes. The Volga car was awarded to Saitiyev (Krasnoyarsk), Moskvich cars - to A.Lykov (Krasnoyarsk), R.Katinovosov (Makhachkala) and V.Orudzhiyev (Vladikavkaz).

The collective of the Yenisei Palace of sports got unexpected and pleasant present - the Moskvich car, for the smooth operation of all services of the Palace of sports during the preparation and holding of the tournaments.

The presentation of super prizes confirmed the fact that the residents of Krasnoyarsk highly appraise the freestyle tournament for the Yarygin prizes, as well as the heroes of the tournament and those who prepared and held this wonderful sport event. ■

Tournaments' Chronicle

Tournaments on International Freestyle Wrestling Tournament

WHAT A SPECTACULAR SIGHT!

Speaking Are the Tournament Participants of the Previous Years

Rafi Martinetti, Vice President of the International Free-Style Wrestling Federation:

- For me, Siberia and Russia are inseparable. At the opening ceremony at the Yenisei Palace of Sports I'd rather felt the Russian heart, the Russian boldness, your national folk lore.

To me, the image of the Siberian man is embodied in the mighty bogatyr Ivan Yarygin.

Arsen Fadzaev, chief coach of Russia's combined team:

- What is my opinion of the tournament? This was a beautiful sight. I am sure that the world championship will take place in this wonderful palace. Krasnoyarsk residents have won high appraisal.

Branko Simich, technical delegate to the International Wrestling Federation:

- I visit Krasnoyarsk for the second time and glad to note that your city will participate in the world freestyle wrestling championships in 1997. It deserves such an honor.

Valery Bauer, deputy head of the department for trainees and sports schools of the State Committee on Physical Fitness and Tourism, honorable coach of the USSR, candidate of pedagogical sciences:

- Though I know Krasnoyarsk well, for I studied here thirty years ago, I am visiting the freestyle wrestling tournament for the first time. This is a very representative tournament, involving strong teams. Such tournaments unite people. This tournament is not only of sports nature, but of political one as well. The event is very important. Foreign sportsmen get an opportunity to familiarize themselves with the region, its wealth and traditions; they can also meet their Russian colleagues.

Today Krasnoyarsk is among the six leading regions of big sports in Russia. This is due to traditions, due to coaches.

Competitions of such a rank as the international free-style wrestling tournament, exert a tremendous influence on the youth, our future champions.

Lorence Shaketano, President of the U.S. Wrestling Federation:

- This is one of the best tournaments in the world, ranking only second after the world championships. We, Americans, enjoy participating in these competitions. This is a wonderful school of wrestling.

I am visiting Krasnoyarsk for the second time and hope to come in future as well. As a businessman, I'd like to establish connections with the local firms. We are interested in resources. The offices of my company are operating in Moscow, Rostov, Ukhta and Kiev.

One more word about tournament. Though it is cold in the street, fierce fighting is taking place on the rugs. Good health to you, Siberians!

Nugzar Zhuruli, chief referee of the local tournament:

The level of the preparation for the tournament is up to the world standards. All necessary conditions have been created not only for the competitors and referees, but for the spectators as well. The strongest wrestlers are true to themselves: their attacks are fierce. Each combat - within the limits of the possible. No wonder, since those who lose are out and can't take part in other competitions.

Aleksei Okmoyev, coach (Yakutia):

- I think that the tournament is of the highest class. We specially arrived in Krasnoyarsk to witness the fight of the free-style wrestlers from different countries. There are things to learn. For educational purposes, we are making a videofilm to show it later to our boys. The tournament is very useful to us, sportsmen of Russia's hinterland.

Orudzhiev Vugar, honorable master of sports (Vladikavkaz):

- Everything is all right, the competitors are strong, the referees are skilled, though there were some mistakes. I am glad that eight North Ossetian wrestlers won 3-4 and 1-2 places on the second day of the finals. Our president sent a telegram of congratulation. This testifies to the attention our republic pays to the development of sports. When I was leaving Yevlakh, a small locality, not far from Nagorny Karabakh, my parents and relatives wished me success. And I did achieve it, winning the first place in my weight category.

Lidia Soboleva, deputy chief physician of the Krasnoyarsk sanitary and epidemiological inspection center:

- I have been closely following wrestling since 1973. I attended practically all major competitions in Krasnoyarsk. I am glad to see the famed sportsman, Sergei Beloglazov, as well as Yuri Shakhmuradov, the coach of Japan's combined team.

The tournament is a spectacular sight, both in form and content. This holiday makes my heart smile.

Sergei Kashnikov, master of sports, international class, twice European champion (wrestling):

- The tournament is distinguished by the warmth of reception and good organization. Almost no blunders.

As to the wrestling itself, I think it lacks technique. Attacks are rare. But this is my opinion of preliminary competitions. The first finals proved more aggressive and, consequently, spectacular.

Siberian Rug

for the Prizes of Ivan Yarygin in Krasnoyarsk

Ivan Yarygin, Viktor Alexeev, Vitaly Tokchinakov, Vladimir Botnya, Akhmed Atavov, Vladimir Modosyan, Abdullah Magomedov - they all have graduated from the Krasnoyarsk school of wrestling. The school is well-known for its top-class master graduates. It is led by Dmitry G. Mindiashvili, merited coach of the USSR and the Russian Federation. Some of the wrestlers have become coaches themselves, new athletes have appeared. Buvaisar Saitiyev, 20, who lives in Krasnoyarsk is one of them. In the 1995 season he won at every possible competition, including the Ivan Yarygin competitions, at the youth competition, and later at the world championships. It is not accidental that the winner is on the list of "Russia's three Olympic hopefuls" by the results of the 1995 pre-Olympic year.

Virtually, Saitiyev is not a Siberian. Three-odd years ago he and his best friend Islam Matiyev who is also a smart freestyle wrestler arrived in Krasnoyarsk from Khasavyurt, a town in Dagestan (the Russian Federation's constituent republic). They had learned about the city's school of wrestling and moved to live and train there. Buvaisar sees himself as a real Siberian now, he maintains the school is very good and training there is difficult but effective. He and his friend are missing their native land, but do not believe they can do without Krasnoyarsk, its mat, the school and their new friends. Saitiyev's elder brother, Abdullah who is also a wrestler, was the first to come to live in Krasnoyarsk. Abdullah practiced for a year, became a master of sport, then was called up for military service and served in the Kemerovo region.

Upon returning home, Abdullah told Buvaisar and Islam a lot about training on the Krasnoyarsk mat. Later all-round world champion Akhmed Atavov and European champion Abdullah Magomedov came for a visit to their native Khasavyurt, they were idolized by local children. The champions advised the two friends to go to Krasnoyarsk. After the first twelve months of training in the school Saitiyev and Matiyev won at a European youth competitions.

Buvaisar was lucky that major international wrestling competitions that award prizes named after two times Olympic champion Ivan Yarygin are held annually in Krasnoyarsk. Buvaisar was taken notice of two years ago at the competitions when he won in the weight category under 68 kg.

The Russian national team's chief coach Arsen Fadzaev said at the time that Buvaisar was a good boy, but not quite fit physically, not yet formed as a man, not quite ready. But Ivan Yarygin himself was of high opinion of the guy.

In January 1994 Buvaisar was really smart, after his victory over Valery Gulchiyev he encountered Sounders Tousand. However, the situation was developing not in his favor. The referees "played into the hands" of the guest from overseas. They did not take into consideration a throw of Buvaisar, but his competitor got three points and was in the lead with a score 3:1. Then Tousand twice applied a hold and got another four points, while Saitiyev - only two. And at the moment when the situation was seemingly desperate and the score was 3:7, Buvaisar executed a brilliant throw and got four points thus equalling the score.

After that, Saitiyev quickly reached victory and made short word of European champion "iron" Boris Budayev from Buryatia with a score 7:1.

Early in 1995 Buvaisar began to appear in a heavier category, under 74 kg, in which well-known wrestlers perform. At the competitions named after Ivan Yarygin he again made his fans watch his performance with bated breath. In his bout with an experienced wrestler, Saigid Katinovsov from Makhachkala, Buvaisar seemed to be losing with a score 1:6. But he again like a year ago managed to pull himself together and won. He also gained victory visually without any effort over his other competitors and in the final bout with American Pete Smith he was also the winner. Buvaisar executed two excellent throws and then applied a head under arm and crotch lift and after applying an effective shoulder throw he got five points and deafening applause.

At present Russia's team's coach Arsen Fadzaev believes that Saitiyev has matured and performs smartly with great exactness in his movements. He is a real candidate to become a member of Russia's Olympic national team. Buvaisar has justified hopes. Last year his ascent of podiums began. At the championship Fadzaev included him into the national team to take part in the Atlanta world championship. This year's Olympic games will be held there. Buvaisar was a success. He gained victory over a very self-confident Alexander Lipold from Germany.

No one realized that Saitiyev won with only one "working" leg. Late in 1994 at a training before the Yarygin competitions he injured his knee, it ached and before bouts doctors had to anaesthetize it. Now the wrestler has undergone an operation, plaster has been removed and Buvaisar Saitiyev started training again. This season is special because of the Olympic games. Islam Matiyev is also ready to take part in regular Yarygin competitions after winning at the Kazakhstan international championships.

Well, good luck to the friends on the Krasnoyarsk mat. ■

CHAMPION'S BOOK

GAMES FOR REAL MEN

In November 1995 the Krasnoyarsk book publishers brought out a second revised edition of Games for Real Men by I.S. Yarygin, a two-time Olympic champion in freestyle wrestling and president of the Russian Freestyle Wrestling Federation. In it, the outstanding athlete tells a story of his life, recalling how a simple country boy made a brilliant career in sports. Yarygin tells of past and present champions and of his hard yet rewarding work as the chief coach of the national freestyle wrestling team.

"I first hit upon an idea to write a book at the 1982 world championship in Canada," says Yarygin. "We had tremendous success there, all our wrestlers having won prizes... As a rule, the sports press does not have much interest in wrestling, which is surprising indeed. Nowadays freestyle wrestling is getting more and more popular, Russian athletes score ever new victories, and yet most of sports journalists do not pay any particular attention to wrestlers. There are very few articles or books devoted to my sport, and that is really unfair.

In talking of myself I hope to be able to show the democratic spirit of men's contest, the beauty of it."

The author recalls his first steps in sport; he describes dozens of wonderful people who happened to be near him, helping him and bolstering his belief in himself, who shared his joys and sorrows on the thorny path of athlete.

As the reader will undoubtedly notice, Yarygin does not present himself as a kind of superman, but focuses his attention on those who surrounded him, whom he met and worked with. The book is virtually crammed with known personalities and men in the street, legendary wrestlers and ordinary sports fans.

The author is convincing in every particular detail when he describes the hard toil of an athlete. Each success is bought at the price of great risks, moral suffering and self-sacrifice.

The last pages of the book deal with the VII International Freestyle Wrestling Tournament to be held this year. Both athletes and fans look forward to this fascinating sports event.

"What a wonderful city my Krasnoyarsk is," says Yarygin of his home town on the Yenisei River. "Life is hard for people here. There are a lot of things they cannot afford. And still the city manages to award its winners with valuable prizes.

Organization of an international tournament today requires a lot of effort to be put in by various bodies and individuals. Sometimes I am really amazed at the willingness and enthusiasm the sports community of the region display in overcoming numerous difficulties. This refers above all to the regional Physical Training and Sports Committee headed by its chairman Vladimir Chernykh."

Games for Real Men is an excellent present made by I.S. Yarygin and the publishing house for guests and participants of the VII International Freestyle Wrestling Tournament. It is a clever, captivating and sincere book. As a matter of fact, it is another contribution of the outstanding athlete to the development of such a marvellous sport as freestyle wrestling. ■

PEOPLE WITH TV CAMERAS AND DICTAPHONES

International freestyle wrestling tournaments have invariably aroused great interest on the part of the press. Journalists usually attend every single event of the tournament, meeting both wrestlers and their coaches and referees, event organizers and fans.

Sixty-eight mass media people were accredited at the VI International Freestyle Wrestling Tournament. They represented about 20 newspapers, TV companies and information agencies.

These included ITAR-TASS, newspapers Krasnoyarsky Rabochy, Krasnoyarsky Komsomlets, Vecherny Krasnoyarsk, Krasnoyarskiye Profsoyuzy, Sovetsky Sport and Komok, the Krasnoyarsk State TV and Radio Company, TV companies Ostankino, TVK-6, Afontovo, Kontrast (Nizhnevartovsk) and others.

The organizing committee, the regional sports committee and the tournament press center announced a journalist contest for the best coverage of the VI International Freestyle Wrestling Tournament. The winners were awarded valuable prizes.

Local newspapers, and TV companies TVK-6 and Afontovo covered the event in a vivid, fascinating manner.

Konstantin Stepanov, reporter of Vecherny Krasnoyarsk, was ranked first among journalist pens. He published over 10 brilliant articles on the competition in his newspaper.

The tournament could be rightly called a TV event, as it received wide coverage from local TV companies. There was a series of highly interesting programs devoted to the sports festival; the Krasnoyarsk State TV and Radio Company arranged live broadcasting of the final bouts and the presentation party.

I would like to mention journalists who covered the tournament in a truly creative manner, producing fascinating reports of the event. These are Tatyana Popova of Krasnoyarsky Rabochy, Anatoly Izosimov of the regional radio company, Yevgeny Falkovsky of Krasnoyarsky Komsomlets, Gennady Tyunis of TVK-6, and newspaper photographers Alexander Kuznetsov, Alexander Mishchenko, Anatoly Belonogov, and Valery Zabolotsky. All of them will cover the VII International Tournament this year. ■

The Krasnoyarsk region is known in Russia and abroad not only by its industry, science and culture, but sports achievements as well.

The region cultivates 57 kinds of sport, has produced 12 honorable masters of sports and a great number of international class masters of sports. Greatly developed are Graeco-Roman wrestling, judo, rock-climbing and mountaineering, track and field athletics, gymnastics, skiing races, Russian hockey.

Some 264,000 people go in for sport in the region. Of them over

The Ball of Olympic Competitors

On the last day of October 1992, the Olympic torch was lighted on the stage of the Krasnoyarsk Opera and Ballet Theater. The best Theater in the district center housed the first ever gathering of the Siberian Olympic athletes. Champions and participants in the Olympic games of the previous years came from republics, districts and regions to attend their first ball.

The first Siberian Olympic champion, K.Vyrupeyev, from Irkutsk, twice champion in freestyle wrestling I.Yarygin, Olympic champion in gymnastics Ye.Naimushina, as well as other national sports stars have enlivened, as might seem, the unfading pages of the Olympic games.

The gathering signalled the beginning of another good tradition - the friendship of sports and arts. ■

CHRONICLE

Regional Cup Competition

This kind of competition has not been held in our region for the last twelve years. The most recent one took place at the end of 1995. For two days freestyle wrestlers competed in the sports hall of the Krasnoyarsk sports school. The purpose of the match was to revive wrestling sections in sports societies, including the Urozhai, Yumost and Trudovye Rezervy societies, through encouraging a sense of competition and attracting young people to this particular sport.

From now on the cup competition among athletes of the Krasnoyarsk region will be an annual event, promoting young talents from the outlying districts.

This year will see the start of European championships among club teams. It is very important that our sports clubs should have the opportunity to compete with each other. Organizers of the Krasnoyarsk clubs are I. Yarygin, V. Alexeev, S. Vilkovsky and G. Bakhturidze. There are also clubs headed by Modosyan, Borgoyakov and Lebedev. The clubs unite true enthusiasts of freestyle wrestling and help youngsters to master the tricks of the trade. ■

Under the Leadership of an Olympic Champion

A year ago Alexei Shumakov, Olympic champion in Graeco-Roman wrestling, became head of the Krasnoyarsk branch of the Air Force Central Sports Club. His name attracted to the club a lot of Krasnoyarsk athletes, who have scored quite a few victories since. The club athletes took part in the first World Military Games in Rome. Their results are quite impressive: Oleg Nemchenko, master of sports, international class, won the gold medal in Graeco-Roman wrestling; Sergei Kosmynin, honored master of sports, won the silver medal in judo; and Alexei Ogorodnikov, Alexei Lykov and Marina Kovrigina, masters of sports, international class, were ranked among the top five of the world.

"Athletes of our Russian army," says Alexei Shumakov, "won 42 gold medals, that is 20 medals more than the Italians, who came second in the team events after the Russians. No one has expected such a stunning victory from us. I was literally overjoyed, watching Russian athletes." ■

The Krasnoyarsk School of Champions

The school of the highest sports achievements in wrestling was opened in 1973. Now it is known to all sportsmen of the world.

Hundreds of sportsmen, distinguished masters of international class and those, who are just entering on their sports career, know this building on Markovsky street, downtown Krasnoyarsk. For them, it is the house of wrestling, the school of Dmitry Mindiashvili - an able coach, organizer, instructor and now Vice President of the Russian Wrestling Federation. D.Mindiashvili is a candidate of pedagogical sciences and gets ready to defend doctor's degree on the theme, quite dear to him: "Managing the process of mastering sports skills of trained wrestlers."

Two years ago D.Mindiashvili published his book of reminiscences "On the Carpet of Life," devoting many pages to the idea of establishing a wrestlers' school and an uphill task to realize the main thing of his life.

Rafi Martinotti, Vice President of the International Wrestling Federation, having familiarized himself with the school, its traditions, methods and Mindiashvili's style of work, said: "Most of all, I admire his immense talent of educator and instructor. If there are great sportsmen, there ought to be great coaches. And if it is so, then Dmitry Mindiashvili is one of them." The school lives a turbulent, interesting life, it turns out wonderful sportsmen, who achieve outstanding results at the competitions of the highest class. Over 5,000 people go in for free-style wrestling in the region: in Krasnoyarsk, Divnogorsk, Kansk, Achinsk, Talnakh, Yeniseisk, Lesosibirsk, Uzhur, Uyar, Nazarovo, Sharypovo; as well as in the districts - the Mansk, Partizansky, Uzhursky, Novoselovsky, Balakhtinsky, Sayansky, Ilansky, Abansky, Shushensky and Evenkiyskiy Autonomous district.

To prepare specialists, the Krasnoyarsk technical secondary school of physical training opened a free-style wrestling department in 1973, while the Krasnoyarsk State Pedagogical University, on the initiative of D.Mindiashvili, opened a wrestling chair in 1995.

Specialized schools of Olympic reserves, functioning in Krasnoyarsk, Divnogorsk and Minusinsk, also turn out wrestling coaches.

Krasnoyarsk has become a center of International and all-Russia wrestling competitions. In 1995, it held the sixth international freestyle tournament, group A, for the prizes of twice Olympic champion Ivan Yarygin. The tournament involved over 250 wrestlers from Russia and abroad.

The annual international freestyle wrestling junior tournaments for the prizes of twice world champion Viktor Alekseev win the highest appraisal, as well as the Graeco-Roman wrestling tournaments for the prizes of Olympic champion Aleksei Shumakov, all-Russia tournaments, devoted to the memory of V.I.Kotelnikov (freestyle wrestling), tournaments for the prizes of the first Krasnoyarsk champion Anatoly Solopov (Graeco-Roman wrestling). "Krasnoyarsk pillars" competitions for the Albert Astakhov prizes (unarmed combat) also were highly appreciated.

The school of the highest sports achievements in wrestling has everything necessary for holding competitions: a spacious hall with three wrestling rugs, three training halls (each has two rugs), the physical training hall, medical-biological and rehabilitation center, doctor's consulting room, phytobar, cafe, etc., which the sportsmen use during their training sessions and competitions. All necessary conditions have been created for training first-class sportsmen, members of Russia's representative wrestling teams.

High Awards

The school has undergone a lot of change over the twenty-two years of its existence. Initially it was established as a freestyle wrestling school; later it became a school for summer sports (freestyle wrestling, Graeco-Roman wrestling and judo) and then transformed into a wrestling school (freestyle wrestling, Graeco-Roman wrestling and unarmed self-defense). Despite all this change the school has always trained first-rate athletes who have scored numerous victories in domestic and international competitions.

During all this time, the wrestling school has trained the following athletes: nine honored masters of sports of the USSR and Russia, 34 masters of sports, international class, six honored coaches of the USSR, 27 honored coaches of Russia, and over 400 masters of sports of the USSR and Russia; 24 international and all-Union referees and 63 regional referees.

Awards won by students of the school:

- 86 medals in European and world championships, World Cups and Olympic games;
- 274 medals in international tournaments;
- 220 medals in USSR championships;
- 362 medals in Russian championships.

Of these, the following medals were won in freestyle wrestling (as of 1 January 1996):

- 3 medals in the Olympic Games (2 gold medals and 1 bronze one);
- 16 medals in world championships (9 gold medals, 3 silver ones

- and 4 bronze ones);
- 25 medals in World Cups (17 gold medals, 5 silver ones and 3 bronze ones);
- 4 gold medals in World University Games;
- 21 medals in European championships (9 gold medals, 7 silver ones and 5 bronze ones);
- 4 medals in the USSR Games;
- 42 medals in USSR championships (16 gold medals, 11 silver ones and 15 bronze ones);
- 50 medals in all-Union competitions (14 gold medals, 16 silver ones and 20 bronze ones);
- 30 medals in the RSFSR Games (11 gold medals, 10 silver ones and 9 bronze ones);
- 113 medals in RSFSR championships (42 gold medals, 36 silver ones and 35 bronze ones);
- 96 medals in all-Russia competitions (39 gold medals, 30 silver ones and 27 bronze ones).

Sports Kaleidoscope

The residents of the region have the following facilities for their physical training and sports exercises: 63 stadiums, 1,330 gymnasiums, 22 swimming pools, 138 ski pavilions, 363 shooting galleries, 4 Palaces of Sports with artificial ice, 10 spring boards, 2 sleigh routes, 25 mountain-skiing routes, 2,700 sports structures.

● Traditional are mass competitions: "Spartakiada kraya" (Sports day in the region), "Olimpiiskaya Niva Krasnojarska" (Olympic field in Krasnoyarsk region), "Spartakiada narodov Severa" (Sports and athletics meeting of Nordic people). The Movement for Health competition includes skiing competitions and running under the slogan "Everyone is starting," "Know thyself."

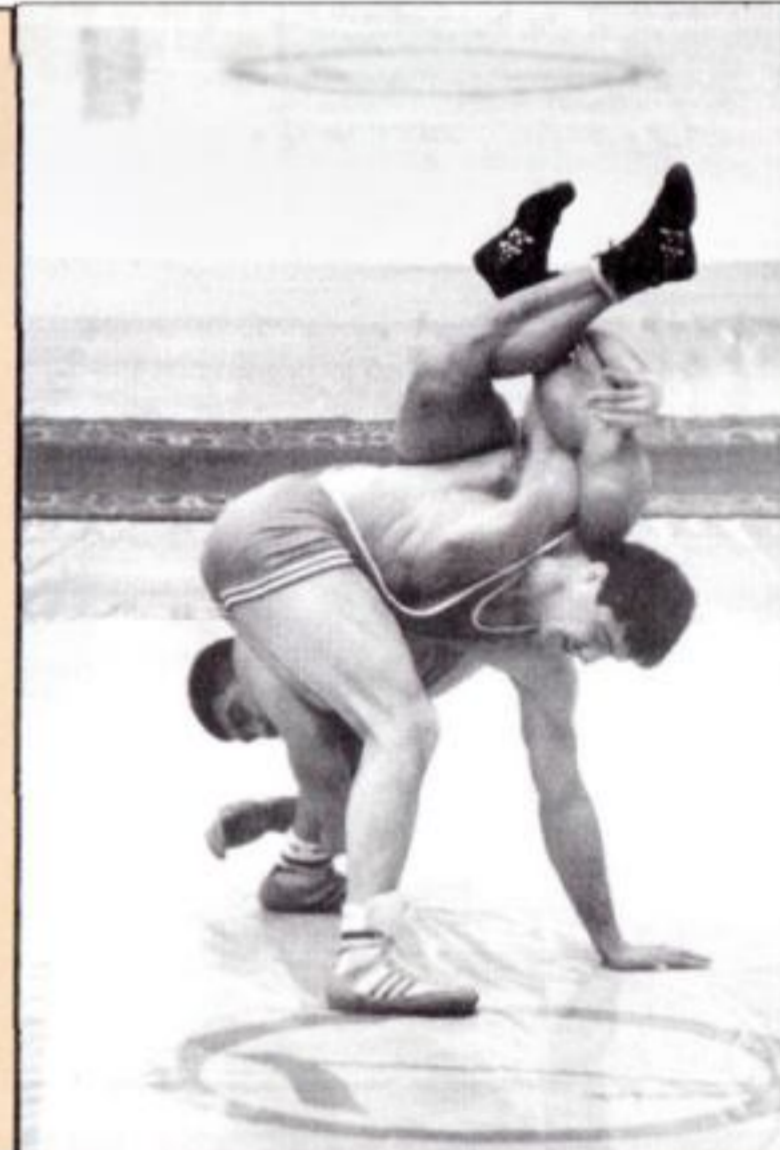

● Sports and athletics meeting is held annually among industrial workers.

● Over 370,000 people of different age go in for sports to improve their health.

● Krasnoyarsk has a complex of up-to-date spring boards, sleigh route, biathlon shooting-range and skiing stadium. Taking this into account, the city hosted the fifth and the sixth winter sports and athletics meetings of the peoples of the USSR.

● Some 140 district competitions, up to 30 interregional and republican ones, are held annually at the region's sports facilities. The International freestyle wrestling tournament for the prizes of the twice Olympic champion I.S.Yarygin has become traditional in Krasnoyarsk, as well as other sport events.

● The international ties of Krasnoyarsk sportsmen and sports clubs are growing, both in sports and commercial activity.

Silk Against Wilt

By VIKTOR KOMORIN

According to Uzbekistan's Cotton-growing Research Institute, annual losses of wilt-affected cotton run at 300,000 tons to 500,000 tons.

Wilt is the scourge of international cotton-growing. The losses reach billions of dollars. The largest chemical firms of the world: BASF, Hechst, Brown, Bayer, Shell and others spend hundreds of millions of marks and dollars, trying to find some effective pesticides, capable of curing the dreadful cotton disease. But, alas, the perfidious wilt continues to destroy cotton, while chemical preparations, affecting wilt, affect, at the same time, the living creatures as well; they are also hazardous to man. Suddenly, the modest beauty of the Siberian taiga - the fir tree - has come to the aid of the tender cotton. The scientists from the Institute of Organic Chemistry, the Cytology and Genetics Institute of the Russian Academy of Sciences, Siberian Branch, and the Siberian Timber Industry Institute, developed, out of the fir tree needles and rind, the SILK preparation, which has unique anti-wilt properties. Treating twice cotton plantations with SILK, in one of the farms in the Tashkent regions, reduced cotton disease 21.8%, increased the productivity 12.8% and the strength of cotton fibre over 10%! To produce SILK, the scientists, jointly with a large defense plant in Siberia, set up a joint-stock company ELKHA, which started the manufacture of a unique preparation this year, as well as its marketing in Russia and the CIS.

The SILK's influence on plants resembles that of ginseng on human organism - the same stimulating and tranquilizing effect, boosting human defenses, - says ELKHA President Georgy Lyandres, one of the SILK developers. While undergoing industrial tests on large sites of various regions of the former USSR, our preparation revealed more than a dozen of useful properties. And, what is most important, in contrast to foreign preparations, it is absolutely non-toxic for man and animals and is ecologically friendly...

"Such preparation are unknown in the world practice", asserts V.A. Koptuyug, President of the Russian Academy of Sciences, Siberian branch. "This enables us to forecast the SILK's success on the world market and large hard currency revenues - up to $1.5 billion a year."

The fir tree has become related with cotton and helped destroy wilt.

FOR THE ATTENTION OF POTENTIAL INVESTORS

ELKHA JOINT STOCK COMPANY PROPOSES PARTICIPATION IN THE SECOND STAGE OF EXPANDING PRODUCTION OF SILK, A HIGHLY EFFECTIVE NATURAL BIOPESTICIDE AND PLANT GROWTH STIMULATOR

INVESTMENT PROJECT DETAILS

1. Total investment--25 billion rubles.
2. Investment stability:
 - 2.1. The ratio of the price of SILK to its manufacturing costs is no less than 10.
 - 2.2. The ratio of potential markets to the volume of production is no less than 50.
 - 2.3. The ratio of annual income to capital costs is no less than 3.
 - 2.4. The ratio of the price for similar products to the SILK price is no less than 2.5.
3. The project is protected by the Russian KNOW-HOW patent.
4. Possible investment terms:
 - 4.1. A one year loan on the security of immovables at an annual interest rate of not less than 60% and an insurance policy.
 - 4.2. Issue of ordinary registered shares in the amount of the sum to be invested, with an annual guaranteed yield of not less than 100%.
 - 4.3. Establishment of a joint venture with the proposed 50:50 ratio of interests owned by ELKHA and the participating parties.

"There have never been such preparations in world practice. Similar products of major companies are much inferior to SILK in their characteristics."
Academician V.A. Koptuyug,
Chairman of the presidium of the Russian Academy of Sciences Siberian branch

FOR THE ATTENTION OF AGRICULTURAL EXPERTS, BUSINESSMEN AND GARDENERS

SILK: A HIGHLY EFFECTIVE NATURAL BIOPESTICIDE AND PLANT GROWTH STIMULATOR

The biopesticide and growth stimulator SILK, made according to TY9291-001-03533895-94, has been officially registered as a pesticide. It is allowed to be used on Russian territory by the State Chemistry Committee under the Russian Ministry of Agricultural products.

The SILK preparation:

- * increases productivity of crops by 25-30 percent
- * increases the root mass of plants by 50-150 percent
- * increases the germinating capacity of seeds by 12-15 percent
- * increases the amount of ovaries and seeds by 15-20 percent
- * improves the quality of plant-growing products
- * reduces the incidence of germ, virus or fungus plant diseases (phytophthora, downy mildew, root rot, dark mildew, etc.) by 150-300 percent
- * reduces the vegetation period by 4-6 days
- * increases viability of plants in extremely unfavorable climatic conditions
- * increases the number of standard-size fruits and their preservation time
- * reduces the amount of nitrates in tubers and fruits
- * The price of SILK never exceeds 8 percent of the value of extra crop produced
